Thomas M. Magoon Excellence in Counseling Award

This award is given in the spirit of the long-standing CCAPS/ACPA conference presentation entitled Innovations in Counseling, and in particular in honor of the originator and coordinator of that presentation, Dr. Thomas M. Magoon. The Magoon Excellence Award is given to a university or college counseling agency that has provided either inventive or original programming or has provided exceptional comprehensive services during the past year. In particular, CCAPS encourages nominations that reflect the inclusion and integration of multicultural competence and values. Eligible agencies shall be an organizational unit within a college or university. The nominated program or service should occur within the time period of July 1, 2015 to June 30, 2016.

A letter of support must accompany the nomination form. The letter must address the unique nature of the program or service, the originality of its design and implementation, and the benefits gained by students and/or the campus community. Up to three letters may be submitted; supporting documentation of the innovative program or service may also be submitted in lieu of the letters of support.
