

1 August 2016

Dear Colleague:

On behalf of ACPA--College Student Educators International and the 95 Expert Panelists and Co-Authors of the Tenth Anniversary Edition of the "Global Diversity and Inclusion Benchmarks: Standards for Organizations Around the World (GDIB)," I wish to invite you to the official release and launch event for our ACPA special edition of the GDIB for Higher and Tertiary Education.

Please join us at:

The National Center for Higher Education
September 9th
One DuPont Circle NW
Washington, DC. 20036
3 o'clock-5 o'clock
Hors d'oeuvres, Champagne & More

Recently described as "a game changer for organizations and society," the GDIB is being used in large, medium and small organizations in various sectors, industries, and regions around the world to improve institutional performance and catalyze positive social change. The co-authors, Julie O'Mara and Alan Richter, Ph.D., in collaboration with The Diversity Collegium, a non-profit think tank, grant permission for campus use at no charge. We are honored and delighted to partner with them in providing this extraordinary platform for assessing and achieving the values of equity and inclusion in campus communities.

Permission for use information will be available at the launch. Please bring a colleague to celebrate this new way to assert human dignity as the central organizing principle in our work.

Respectfully,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Cindi Love, Ed.D." in a cursive style.

Cindi Love, Ed.D.
