From the Chair

Hello, CCAPS folks!

I write this column eagerly anticipating our Convention in Philadelphia. I look forward to seeing many of you in person at our exciting Commission activities (see link below).

I want to begin by welcoming our new Directorate Members, who will be joining us at their first Directorate meeting in Philadelphia. Congratulations to:

Vivian Barnette of the University of Iowa;

Laura Lyn of Northern Arizona University;

Sherry Lynch of Virginia Tech;

Sharon Mitchell of SUNY-Buffalo;

Stacey Moore of Texas Tech;

Jeff VanLone of Lehigh University; and

Oula Majzoub, Kent State University, our new graduate student representative.

We had a wonderfully talented group running this year, and these new Directorate members represent the diversity of our Commission, in terms of demographic variables as well as professional background and the types of institutions at which they work. Please join me in welcoming them in Philly!

Our Commission has much to offer at the upcoming Convention. Please check out this link to the CCAPS webpage (</c7conv.htm>), which provides the titles, dates, and times of many important sessions and events. I particularly want to highlight our Commission continuing education workshop which will be held on the afternoon of April 2nd from 1:30pm-4:30pm. Our topic is "Diversity in Eating Disorders" and we are fortunate to have Caryn Hartman, the Assistant Vice President and Director of Nursing and Clinical Supports Services at the internationally known Renfrew Center as our speaker.

Lastly, I will be transitioning to Past-Chair at the end of this year's Convention. These past three years have been exciting and rewarding, and I'll admit to some sadness as I become Past-Chair. However, I have only confidence in Stacey Pearson's ability to be our new Chair, and look forward to continuing to work with her and the rest of the Commission.

I know that we will have many important discussions about our work in Philadelphia, as well as a lot of fun together. Hope to see you there!

Sue Stock-Ward, PhD
Chair, Commission for Counseling and Psychological Services

From The Editors

Welcome to the 2004 pre-convention edition of the CCAPS Newsletter. As the 2004 ACPA Convention in Philadelphia approaches, we grow more excited about seeing old friends and colleagues as well as meeting new ones. Therefore, this newsletter focuses on the upcoming convention and all it has to offer.

This newsletter includes a schedule of convention programs that are either sponsored by or related to the interests of the Commission for Counseling and Psychological Services. Take a look and make your convention plans early! Also included is information about the award that the Commission will receive at the Convention in April.

Our feature article for this edition is Twenty Better and Lesser-Known Reasons to Attend the 2004 ACPA Convention. Thanks to all of the members of the Directorate who contributed. If you are planning to attend the convention, here's a chance to get motivated. If you are not yet planning to attend, here's your chance to change your mind!

Thank you to Sue Stock-Ward for her From the Chair column, which includes information about the Philadelphia Convention, our new directorate members and her transition from Chair to Past-Chair. We would like to take this opportunity to express our gratitude to Sue for her leadership and friendship over the past three years and more. The current newsletter committee would also like to thank Sue personally for her patience and guidance as we have worked to create engaging and thought-provoking newsletters for the Commission. Thank you to Jonathan Kandell and Ellen Emerson for the list of CCAPS-related convention programs. Finally, we would like to thank Jonathan Kandell again for formatting and uploading this newsletter. See you in Philly!

Twenty Better and Lesser-Known Reasons to Attend the 2004 ACPA Convention

Whether you have been to past conventions or not, you may be surprised by what this year's convention in Philadelphia has to offer!

1. Don't miss the opportunity to discuss issues and share ideas relevant to the field of counseling and psychological services on college and university campuses.
2. Here's your chance to visit Philadelphia, the town of brotherly love and sisterly affection.
3. Philly is the home of the Philadelphia cheese steak, hoagie and soft pretzel, mmmmmm!
4. Gain new clinical insight from fantastic presentations, roundtables, and workshops with others who care about college students.
5. Get away from the office.
6. Establish ACPA and CCAPS as a home for professional development and mentoring.
7. Find out we are not alone in the universe (professional that is) and rediscover how much we share by way of experience and hope.
8. Make new friends.
9. Rack up frequent flier miles.
10. Several award winners will be honored including the recipients of the graduate research award, the awards for new and mid-career professionals, and a lifetime achievement award.
11. Hang out with some of the best people in the world, counseling center folk.
12. Hear some great gossip about other counseling centers/folks around the country.
13. Check out the glorious views of New Jersey.
14. Find out that it is still possible for helping professionals from differing disciplines to collaborate and creatively impact the lives of students and quality of life on campus. The connection and sense of feeling understood in CCAPS transcends professional titles, type of institution, and size of agency.
15. Come and join all members of the Commission running up the steps of the Philadelphia Museum of Art to the "Rocky" theme song.
16. Meet a potential life partner!
17. Once again, Philly Cheese Steak!
18. Continuing education credits FREE with convention registration.
19. Get to hear Stacy Pearson laugh...in itself, a healing experience.
20. See the Liberty Bell. It's smaller than you think!

Thanks to Cindy Cook, Chanda Corbett, Bert Epstein, Wayne Griffin, Laura Lyn, Jason Parcover, Stacy Pearson, Kenya Thompson-Leonardelli, Sue Stock-Ward, and Jeff VanLone for their contributions to this article.

CCAPS Wins Award!

At the Annual Convention in Philadelphia, the Commission for Counseling and Psychological Services will be presented with the Overall Distinguished Commission Award by ACPA. There are several Commission Awards such as awards for newsletters, publications, etc., and the Overall Distinguished Commission Award recognizes a pattern of accomplishment and achievement that is consistent throughout the work of a particular Commission.

Come celebrate in our Commission's accomplishment at the Convention, and be a part of our continued excellence through active involvement in CCAPS activities and projects!
